2020 ESME Virtual String Camp

Attention all string students!

We are excited to announce that this summer's ESME String Camp has now been redesigned to take place online in a fully virtual setting as the ESME Virtual String Camp!

For the safety and health of our students we have been working hard developing a program that will allow you to have an even more rewarding, fun and enriching music learning experience this summer straight from inside of your own homes!

The Esme Virtual String Camp introduces exciting, dynamic programs newly designed through the versatile and technologically experienced skill sets of our string faculty. These programs will guide students through the creation and application of virtual performance while they participate in virtual real-time interactive workshops, masterclasses, theory classes, music appreciation and composition classes, one-on-one lessons and chamber group coachings. Students will be arranged into small chamber ensembles based on grade and playing level. These chamber ensembles will work with ESME on both traditional classical and ESME pop chamber arrangements

The ESME Virtual String Camp is an exciting summer intensive chamber music program that is now extended to two weeks (August 3-15). The camp is open to grades 6-12 and college string players. We are also accepting a limited number of piano students. Our world class artistic string faculty includes musicians from the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra as well as teaching artists from The Manhattan School of Music and the Grand Valley State University faculty. Individual students will be arranged into chamber groups based on grade/level and work with ESME on both traditional classical and ESME pop chamber arrangements. Tuition costs are $400 per student. The tuition and registration deadline is July 1st, 2020. After July 1st students will be accepted based on availability.

Refer-A-Friend Discount Program

The ESME Virtual String Camp now offers a discount off your tuition every time a friend you refer to the camp signs up! Here's how it works:

Invite your fellow string and piano student friends to enroll in the camp.

- 2. Make sure they list your name next to the "Refer-A-Friend" section on the application form.
- 3. For EVERY student who signs up listing your name you will receive a $15.00 discount off your tuition fee. There are NO LIMITS to the amount of discounts you can receive so you can invite as many friends as you want!

Virtual Learning Process

Students will be taken through a tangible learning process from the ground up throughout the course of the camp. They will be taught how to use online and virtual performance practices as powerful tools for building themselves as string players and chamber musicians. As part of this learning process students will have easy access to necessary equipment, software, instructional videos and lesson plans that include:

- Online performing; how to create effective virtual performances
- Using audio and music notation software
- How to effectively play with a click track
- How to effectively play, record and practice with fellow musicians using Acapella and other virtual performance apps and tools

Practice Templates, Orientations and Instructional Videos

All students will receive template videos weeks in advance to practice with and prepare for the camp. These templates include faculty designed click tracks and faculty video/audio recordings. Faculty performances of every student chamber piece assigned for the camp are recorded with one of the chamber players/parts missing from the recording. Students will receive the recording of their assigned piece that is missing their own specific part so they can practice along with that recording before the start of camp. It's like having a virtual side-by-side practice session with our string faculty available any time of the day!

The faculty will also hold live online orientation lessons (up to 30 minutes long) with each student scheduled for the week of July 6-10. Orientation lessons will allow students to test run their equipment and software with faculty members and familiarize themselves with the virtual process before camp begins.

Instructional videos on setting up and running all necessary camp software and equipment will also be sent out to students prior to these orientation sessions.

Equipment and Software

Students will be using free versions of all software, however, minimal subscription fees may be applied to some of the software. All software needed for the camp is free. A full list of both required and recommended hardware and software items for the camp (along with purchase links) can be found here.

All students will be required to have the following in order to participate in the camp:

- Internet connection with speeds of 10mbps or higher
- At least one desktop computer or laptop with a built in or external camera
- At least one smartphone with audio and video recording capabilities
- At least one pair earbuds/earphones. No over-the-ear/on-ear "headband" headphones. Wireless Bluetooth are preferred.

Depending on students level of experience some parents/guardians may be asked to be available on hand for the first few days of camp during live-stream sessions in case the student requires any necessary assistance with their equipment.

Daily Schedule

The ESME Virtual String Camp runs August 3-15 with Sunday, August 9th as a break day. Student information collected during the registration process will help us to address any special student needs for scheduling specific times or any student time commitment issues. This information will be used to provide the most effective day to day camp schedule for each individual student. For the live video conferencing portions of the camp exact scheduling will be finalized closer to the registration deadline but students can expect the following for each day:

- 2.5 hour morning session from 9:30am-12:00pm
- 1.5 hour afternoon session scheduled somewhere between 1:00pm and 4:00pm

Camp Programs

Morning Warmups: "Sonic Meditation"

- Live-streaming warm-up sessions begin each morning with interactive playing, listening, vocal and physical exercises.
- Students will get to experiment in real time with a variety of music theory elements from tone clusters to species counterpoint.

Interactive Workshops

Various workshops are led each day by faculty members through live Zoom video conferencing with topics that include the following:

- Basics of composition and using composition software (MuseScore)
- Improvisation: applying vocal foundations and phonetics to articulation, rhythm and phrasing
- · Practice techniques and methods for string players.
- Recording, mixing and editing virtual performances (using Audacity).
- Body Awareness: physical approach to instrument as an extension of the self. Centering playing mechanics, examining temperament.
- Injury Prevention and Recovery: Repetitive Stress Injuries and the Path Back to Strength and Endurance. Chronic pain from overplaying or poor technique. Dead shoulder pronator syndrome, carpal tunnel, tennis elbow.
- The Right Hand: how to get your instrument to speak at optimum for beginner or professional
- Maximizing Sound Potential Through Proportions (weight to speed to placement)
- Modern Music Theory: contemporary musical concepts and how they relate to any type of music. Developing knowledge and understanding of scales, keys, accompanying and critical listening, musical structure, beats and riffs.

Chamber Music Coachings and One-on-One Lessons

Each student will receive private lessons and chamber music coachings from the ESME string faculty through live-stream video conferencing. Prior to the start of camp, students will be provided with faculty recordings of their chamber repertoire to work with in preparation for and during the camp. Students will also work continuously throughout the camp from recordings made by one another which will also be incorporated into teacher's daily lesson plans and final camp performance projects.

"Breakout Room" Practice Sessions

Students will rotate between the workshops and "breakout room" individual practice sessions set up through zoom video conferencing. Breakout room sessions will include both personal and faculty assisted practice time.

Music Appreciation Classes

Engaging, live-streamed music appreciation classes open students up into the world of classical chamber music exploring chamber repertoire, history and recordings in a fun, virtual classroom experience. Faculty artists will get to share and deconstruct personal inspirations from the chamber music repertoire that have shaped their love and understanding of classical chamber music playing.

Masterclasses and Faculty Performances

Special live masterclasses and live performances by faculty artists will be scheduled throughout the camp.

Individual and Chamber Group Homework Assignments

Faculty members will be on call virtually any time of the day to assist students with their afterhours homework and recording assignments.

Special Projects

Students will work on these extended projects throughout the duration of the camp:

Composition projects
Virtual orchestra
Virtual jam session recordings

Each special project culminates into a final product upon completion of the camp along with virtual orchestra and chamber group performances and a virtual masterclass for all chamber groups.

ESME Chamber Arrangements

ESME chamber pop arrangements provide a unique and exciting context for students at any level to form connections between fundamentals of music making and string playing while presenting a "modern day Suzuki" style approach utilizing modern musical exposure towards classical training.
